| | Special Topic: Technology Enhanced Assessment |
| | Description: Applications of computer-based technology to classroom and large-scale assessment processes, including assessment design, delivery, and scoring. Topics include innovative item/task types, computer-adaptive testing, and reliability, validity, and fairness issues in technology-enhanced assessment. Appropriate for graduate students in Educational Research and Evaluation and in other education fields (e.g., Instructional Technology, Curriculum and Instruction). While this course is classified as 100% synchronous, students may either attend the online synchronous sessions live or view recordings of the sessions afterward. Asynchronous online courses occur through online channels without real-time interaction and are taught 100% online, but do not have an assigned meeting time for the course. When you register for an asynchronous course in MyNIU, it will indicate the course is online (100%) asynchronous where the "room" is listed. There will not be listed course meeting times.

Asynchronous online courses occur through online channels without real-time interaction and are taught 100% online, but do not have an assigned meeting time for the course. When you register for an asynchronous course in MyNIU, it will indicate the course is online (100%) asynchronous where the "room" is listed. There will not be listed course meeting times.

Asynchronous online course occurs through online channels without real-time interaction and is taught 100% online, in addition to weekly meetings.

Synchronous online courses occur in real time and are taught 100% online, but students will meet with the class at a set time each week. When you register for a synchronous course in MyNIU, the system will indicate the course is online (100%) synchronous where the "room" is listed. You will also see course meeting times listed.

Sexualities and Crime: This course focuses on victimization of a variety of sexuality communities and the interaction between communities and the criminal justice system. Specifically, it explores hate crimes against LGBTQIA+ identities as well as policing, prosecution, and punishment of different sexual identities. It examines stereotypes and prejudices of non-hegemonic sexualities, the criminalization of sexual behavior, and the marginalization of queer offenders in the criminal justice system.

This course will focus primarily on the arts of the India, China, and Japan from prehistoric to early modern times. It will span the breadth of a traditional survey of Asian art, from its prehistoric to early modern times, but be quite topical and selective in approach. During the first half of the semester, we will be occupied primarily with the sweep of Buddhist art across the region and explore other avenues of religious art. During the second half of the semester, we will turn to the secular, and primarily courtly, art of each culture. In doing so, this course will illustrate the ways we can trace waves of cross-cultural influence, as well as the ways we can see distinct differences in the arts of these countries. ARTH 294 satisfies PLUS (Creativity and Critical Analysis) requirements and is included in the Global Connections Pathway. This course is required for art history majors.

What is "Classical" art? It is both art of the so-called Classical period of ancient Greek civilization and a style of art that has come to assume a highly influential, indeed canonical position in the history of Western civilization. This course will accomplish three aims for students enrolled: introduce the wider geographic, historical and cultural background of ancient Greek civilization in which the visual arts sit; familiarize one with the fundamental visual and architectural grammar of the Greek Classical period; and interrogate the legacy of the Greek Classical by investigating the various ends to which it has been put in the Early Modern and Modern periods. ends which have oftentimes been far removed from its original contexts and intents (e.g., Nazi Germany).

ARTH 350 0001 2134 Studies in Contemporary Art

Lecture 3
(Online: 100% (No Face-to-Face))
Instructor: Evans, Sarah Patricia

Attributes: Knowledge Domain-Creativity & Critical Analysis, Creativity, Innovation & Change-Creativity & Critical Analysis, Writing Infused Course

Any artist works within an historically distinct and limited field of possibilities defined by the artworld. Thus, study of the history of art is really a study of ideas about art. The era of contemporary art begins in the mid-1950s, when artists adopt Duchamp's insight that art is conceptual, not visual. This means that an artwork is not primarily a visually stimulating object; instead, it is a vehicle for investigation and communication. Rather than focus on individual artists or movements, this course covers significant discourses about the nature and goals of advanced art-practice in an era of increased institutionalization and commodification of art. This course satisfies PLUS (Creativity and Critical Analysis) requirements, is included in the Creativity, Innovation and Change Pathway, and has been certified as Writing Infused.

ARTH 370 0001 4013 Studies in Asian Art

Lecture 3
(Online: 100% (No Face-to-Face))
Instructor: Nagata, Helen M

Attributes: Knowledge Domain-Society & Culture, Writing Infused Course

This course normally spans the breadth of a traditional survey of Japanese art, from its prehistoric to premodern times, but is quite topical and selective in approach. The aim is to raise for consideration a wide range of media, from sculpture and painting to gardens, architecture, ceramics, textiles, and prints. It is hoped that this approach will also promote a greater understanding of the broad range of expressive function in Japan's arts. It will offer us an opportunity to see the ties that bind works of art to their cultural and historical contexts, as well as the threads that make cultural monuments timeless. This course satisfies PLUS (Society and Culture) and Gen Ed (Humanities and the Arts) requirements and has been certified as Writing Infused.

ARTH 380 0001 6537 Stdy:Afric, Ocean, Nat Amer, Pre-Lecture

Lecture 3

Instructor: Staff

Attributes: Knowledge Domain-Society & Culture, Writing Infused Course

This course surveys the art practices of both Africa and the African diaspora. The African continent is a place with a rich artistic history as well as thriving contemporary art scenes. This course will examine the traditional art forms of the African continent and the current practices of African fine art, photography, design, exhibition practices, even film. Students will unpack the influence these traditions and histories have had on artists and critical thinkers of African descent in the Caribbean, Europe and the United States. The course is intended to provide the student with an appreciation of African forms and an understanding of the continent's diversity and broad influence. Exclusion: any prior offering of ARTH 380B or 380E.

ARTH 452 0001 4612 Topics in Medieval Art

Lecture 3
(Online: 100% (No Face-to-Face))
Instructor: Van Dijk, Ann K

Attributes: Writing Infused Course

Comparable to the creators of graphic novels today, medieval artists used the art of visual story telling to convey a diverse range of messages. How does telling a story with pictures differ from telling a story with words, and why was this art form so ubiquitous during the Middle Ages, appearing not only in books but in a variety of contexts? What visual strategies did artists employ to tell stories, and to what ends? This is a reading intensive course that will consider theories of visual narrative, both modern and medieval, and their implications for understanding individual examples of medieval pictorial narrative. ARTH 652 is by permit only.

This course examines the medieval origins of a very familiar object, the illustrated book. We will study the genesis of this art form, which is tied to the invention of the codex ca. 100CE; the materials and techniques used to make and illustrate books in the Middle Ages; the various functions served by the decoration; and the relationship between text and image. Students will have the opportunity to do original research on the manuscript leaves in the NIU library collection. ARTH 652 is by permit only.

This course will examine the history of design from the point of view of women designers of graphics, fashion, textiles, interiors, architecture, crafts, and industrial products from the late 19th century to the present day. Through a series of case studies, we will consider key contributions by women designers as well as challenges to their professional and academic success. This course fulfills one of the Art History seminar requirements for students pursuing an MA degree in Art History. It is open to graduate students in all areas of study.

Asynchronous online courses occur through online channels without real-time interaction and are taught 100% online, but do not have an assigned meeting time for the course. When you register for an asynchronous course in MyNIU, it will indicate the course is online (100%) asynchronous where the "room" is listed. There will not be listed course meeting times.

Asynchronous online courses occur through online channels without real-time interaction and are taught 100% online, but do not have an assigned meeting time for the course. When you register for an asynchronous course in MyNIU, it will indicate the course is online (100%) asynchronous where the "room" is listed. There will not be listed course meeting times.
